A Message from Dean John

Recently I promised to share this article with our congregation and friends; I hope you find it helpful...

The Debate We Still Need to Have

Political violence has no place in a democracy; neither does religious nationalism.

By William J. Barber, II and Jonathan Wilson-Hartgrove

When a young man in Utah decided to murder Charlie Kirk a few weeks ago, he tried to silence a debate on a college campus and an argument about the future of America that depends on the assumption of equality, a commitment to liberty, and a respect for human life. In a volatile moment, when political leaders agree on very little, Republicans and Democrats have spoken with one voice to condemn political violence in America.

We mourn the murder of Charlie Kirk because every life is precious. We mourn a political assassination because it makes this nation less safe for everyone. We also grieve because the shooter cut short a debate we still need to have.

In December of 2019, when Jonathan published a book arguing that religious nationalists were misusing the Bible to justify the MAGA movement, Charlie Kirk challenged Jonathan to a debate. Kirk had joined Jerry Falwell, Jr., then President of Liberty University, to launch an academic center on the role of faith in American public life. Though they did not know it, we were in conversations at the time that would lead to us launching the Center for Public Theology and Public Policy at Yale Divinity School three years later. We thought it was important for Christians to have an open and honest conversation about how Jesus calls us to live out our faith in politics.

We accepted the challenge together, and Jonathan had an initial conversation with Liberty University about the terms of a debate between us and a team Kirk would assemble. But Jerry Falwell, Jr. became embroiled in personal scandal the following year and abruptly resigned. The Falkirk Center changed its name, Charlie Kirk left, and we never got to have the debate we'd discussed.

One of the tragedies of this week's violence is that it makes it harder to have the honest conversation that's needed about Jesus and American politics.

But the debate we didn't have with Charlie Kirk is still a conversation America needs. Because a troubled young man thought he could decide who should live and who should die, we will never get to have that debate with Charlie Kirk. But it is a debate we can and must have if we want to repair the deep divides in American society.

Because we follow Jesus, we practice nonviolence. We are called to love our enemies, even when they do things that hurt us and the people we love. We are called to never want to see the demise of another. We accepted Kirk's challenge to a debate because we believe the religious nationalism he vigorously advocated was dangerous. Even as we mourn his death, we maintain that conviction. Now is the time to embrace his family, wife, and children with the sincerity of grace. But in time we can have and must have a reasoned public debate about his understanding of the faith we share. As the prophet Isaiah said, “Come, let us reason together.” Such honest dialog is essential to a healthy society.

We know Jesus, but we did not recognize the religion Kirk worked to teach our youth. When his organization published “watchlists” that included professors we know, we heard from them about the harassment and threats they received from Kirk’s supporters.

Where Jesus taught that love casts out fear, Kirk encouraged Christians to see themselves as victims who should fear liberal influence.

Where Jesus taught a path of repentance that leads to life, Kirk embraced reactionary movements that denied America’s past sins of racial injustice and policies that aimed, however imperfectly, to address past harms.

Where Jesus taught that if you live by the sword, you will die by the sword, Kirk embraced the NRA’s agenda to escalate gun sales and arm Americans to the teeth.

Where Jesus said that every nation will be judged by how we treat the most vulnerable among us, Kirk embraced a movement that sanctified the slashing of government programs and ignored the cries of the people who are harmed by those attacks.

Where Jesus set up free health clinics everywhere he went, Kirk embraced a political agenda that has cut Medicaid, gutted funding for rural hospitals, and denied millions of Americans access to healthcare.

We never questioned the sincerity of Kirk’s commitment to a religious nationalism that we oppose. Like us, he was the heir of an America where Scripture has been used to argue for and against slavery, for and against woman’s suffrage, for and against Jim Crow, for and against action on climate change, for and against civil rights for all people. But in a free and open debate, where people have had the chance to hear both sides, we know that the truth is the light, and the truth will set all of us free.

Since long before Charlie Kirk came onto the scene, our faith has been misused and abused to recruit fellow Christians into an authoritarian movement that is undermining the best of American values. We understand it to be our Christian duty to make the case for a Christianity that actively works for love, justice, and mercy for all and for public policy that ensures liberty and justice for all. We’re sorry we will never get to have that debate with Charlie Kirk, but we remain committed to having it with anyone who will listen. Indeed, our faith requires it.

Over the next few weeks, there will be opportunities for members of the Diocese of New Jersey to share ideas and feedback as they assess their current work and make plans for what is next. You are invited to join in one of the scheduled listening sessions, led by Bishop Sally French and the Rev. Gay Jennings, an experienced facilitator and consultant. The Diocese will provide a report on the listening sessions and their next steps together when we gather for Diocesan Convention, November 21-22, 2025.

The listening sessions open to the public are listed; while most sessions are open to all participants, a few have been set aside for specific groups. If there is need, they will add in additional times/locations. Registration is required and spaces per session are limited. For those selecting online/zoom meetings, the links will be provided after registration. (Please call Diocesan House at (609) 394-5281 for registration info., as links do not transfer in the print version of this newsletter.)

Thank you for joining us in this important work. Our Diocese looks forward to hearing from you!

Sunday Coffee Hour:
Every Sunday following the 10 AM service in Synod Hall

Why do we have Coffee Hour?
Each Sunday we leave the Eucharist with these words:
"Go in Peace to Love and Serve the Lord!"
A big ask!

So what does this have to do with Coffee Hour?

Along with the weekly Holy Eucharist, Coffee Hour is a place of comfort where we can take the time to increase love for each other as a church community, and find the nourishment - for body and soul - to carry that love out in to the world. It is one of the ways we refill the reservoir that often becomes depleted during the week. It is where we greet each other and build relationships, share our delights and our sadnesses and offer support, and yes, have fun! It is also where we welcome new people and get to know them beyond just a handshake.

The Sunday Eucharist and Coffee Hour are both integral parts of the Sunday morning experience, one follows seamlessly after the other and complement each other.
You are invited to make coffee hour part of your Sunday refreshment!

If you feel able, salads, breads, fruit are always enjoyed by all.
For your convenience, a signup sheet will be on the coffee hour table each Sunday. Bring your favorite!

One of the great things about Trinity Cathedral is how much we do and get done each year despite a sense of having a “small” congregation. Yes, sometimes we all feel that there just isn’t enough time and too few hands. Further, some things ‘fall through the cracks’ on occasion. But, in general, we have fun and get a sense of satisfaction from this aspect of parish life.

We are grateful to the many leaders who guide our Cathedral’s progress through our various commissions and teams. In an effort to recruit more people to give a helping hand, a “Volunteers Needed” board has been installed right near the parking lot entrance doors. We encourage Cathedral team leaders to share announcements of activities, ministries, or events for which you need help or support.

Your task—if you wish to undertake it—will be to complete one or more copies of the “Volunteers Needed” form to describe the type of help you need. Perhaps some may want to support or participate in a discrete event, task, or activity first, before committing themselves to becoming a committee member. On the other hand, there may be a cause that interests them and they’ve been looking for a way to become active at Trinity in a sustaining way.

Although we are first engaging Trinity Cathedral team leaders, eventually the board may also be a repository for some of our partners (the Diocese, Trinity Academy, Urban Promise, Trinity Strings) as well as other organizations that might post calls for volunteers.

So be creative and start posting your volunteer needs! “Volunteers Needed” forms can be found on the literature table in the main hallway. Yes, you may create your own snazzy poster! Questions? Speak with Bernard McMullan on Sundays or contact Patrice in the Cathedral office.

2025/26 Scripture Study Offering: The Books of the Apocrypha

The word Apocrypha comes from the Greek for “hidden” or “secret” and refers to a collection of texts written between the New and Old Testament times that are not part of our standard canon of Scripture. Apocryphal texts are used in our liturgy and offer valuable historical and spiritual insight. And they make a fascinating study!

Please join our interactive journey through the Apocrypha with the help of our very readable study guide.

We were pleased to have 20 members of the Cathedral congregation present to support our own Canon Clara Gregory, Catherine Ambros, and St. George's by-the-River Church as they were honored by Episcopal Community Services New Jersey (ECS-NJ) for their work in underserved communities! For many years, we have been grateful for Clara's work as the Chair of our Outreach Committee, and it was lovely to see that work recognized by the greater Diocesan Community. Congratulations to all!

A steady group of parishioners have resumed the practice of approaching the Icon altar on Sundays to request the laying on of hands for healing. The Dean and I have encouraged this, as it represents a healthy return to an important spiritual custom after the pandemic! Dean John's response (and I agree with him completely) is to augment the available clergy by including lay ministers in the laying on of hands.

We recognize that some members of our congregation might be curious about this sacrament under new conditions. We are determined that, as much as possible, clergy will still be on hand to take part; but their participation will largely be limited to persons who especially want to be anointed with oil blessed by the bishop. Ancient Christian traditions support this exception. However, our Prayer Book (page 308) clearly states that all baptized persons share in the eternal priesthood of Our Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, the laying on of hands for healing, with prayer, from one lay person to another is valid and above all, worthwhile.

We are pleased to say that two of our lay members, Gail Lewis and Judith Miller, have already volunteered to help administer the laying on of hands to all who come forward during the 10 o'clock service. If you too would like to help maintain this treasured and revered tradition, please speak to Dean René at your first opportunity. (It is worth noting that any personal and private information exchanged during the prayers will remain confidential.) Our thanks to all in our vital congregation for their interest!

Altar Flower Sponsorships

Did you know that we rely on gifts from parishioners to provide altar flowers for our Sunday worship? Those who wish to remember the joys and sorrows of life (birthdays, anniversaries, memorials, etc.) contribute funds to create the arrangements for the Cathedral or Chapel altar. (Exceptions: Advent and Lent, when no flowers are present.) A message can be placed in the bulletin to announce who you are honoring. Please contact the office about providing altar flowers, well in advance of the date requested, or speak with Rev. Cn. Art Powell, our Flower Guild Chair.

On Sunday, November 30th at the 10:00AM Mass, we will celebrate the 40th Anniversary of Dean John's Ordination! Our special guest preacher will be The Rev. Canon Arlette Benoit Joseph, Executive Vice President of the Church Pension Fund. More details will be shared as we get closer to the date.

It's not too early to plan for just who in your life would love to have a hand decorated fresh live wreath this year. It's not too early to think about your front door, cemetery remembrances, your neighbor who always admires your wreath! Order now and get a leg up on your Christmas preparation. Friday afternoon, December 5th is wreath decorating time. Sunday December 7th is the pick-up date, before or after the 10 AM service. We will only decorate as many as are ordered, so don't be disappointed this year!

Plan also to check out the mini Christmas sale in Synod Hall before and after Sunday service on pick up weekend. We have some beautiful Christmas bargains this year! Please note that the wreath sale and Christmas sale are fundraisers for the Cathedral, so please lend your support if possible.

If you are interested and able, lend a hand to the decorating process. No time to decorate? Order a wreath or two! For either or both, contact Georgia Koenig or Patrice D'Angelo. Georgia at gbkoenig@verizon.net or text to (609) 273-3351. Patrice at PatriceatTrinity@aol.com or call the church office to leave a message.

Update on the Stained Glass Restoration Project

by Georgia Koenig

We are excited to announce that we expect the return of our beautifully restored stained glass windows on October 26th! Please consider making a gift towards the payment for this important work. As we reported to you in the last issue of the Trinity Times we had a goal of $17,500 to complete the payment for this work.

To date we have pledges of $7,750 dollars and still need to raise $9,750 to fully pay for this work without invading the existing endowment funds. These existing funds produce income on which we depend for the ongoing operational areas of the Cathedral. Any reduction to these existing funds reduces the income they earn, which negatively impacts our budget. Please consider making a commitment to complete the payment of this debt and to the on-going future of the Cathedral that we all love.

Get to Know Your Cathedral!

On Sunday, October 26 at 4:00 pm, join us for a scheduled tour of Trinity Cathedral conducted by Bernard McMullan, informal Cathedral historian and former chair of the Cathedral's Property, Maintenance and Improvement Commission.

The 90-minute tour of the four different churches in the Cathedral complex will include a review of the history, architecture, stained glass, fabrics, and other art of Trinity as well telling some of the "stories" of this 133 year-old congregation. The event requires extensive walking and traversing of several flights of stairs.

The tour concludes with hors d'oeuvres, sweets, wine and conversation in Synod Hall.

Just a few slots are available on each of the days. A donation to Trinity Cathedral of $25 per person is requested. Sign up on the poster in the main hallway outside the Cathedral offices.

Group tours of the Cathedral can be arranged through Patrice D'Angelo (PatriceAtTrinity@aol.com) or Bernard McMullan (rivervue1622@gmail.com).
